Ascensus Global Inc. Awarded U.S. Army FORSCOM Language and Cultural Services Contract

Ascensus Global Inc. (AGI) proudly announces that it has been awarded the United States Army Forces Command (FORSCOM) Language and Cultural Services contract. This five-year award will provide comprehensive language and cultural support to military linguists serving Army warfighters across the force.

This significant achievement reflects AGI's longstanding commitment to delivering mission-focused language instruction and cultural expertise that strengthens operational readiness and enhances global engagement capabilities. For more than 24 years, AGI has built its core business model around providing high-quality language training, cultural immersion, and mission-critical support services to federal partners. The FORSCOM award directly aligns with that foundation—leveraging AGI's deep experience, proven instructional methodologies, and dedicated team of subject matter experts to meet evolving defense requirements.

Scott Hellmig, AGI's Chief Executive Officer, stated: "Our mission over the past 24 years has been clear: deliver world-class language and cultural training that enhances operational effectiveness and empowers those who serve. The FORSCOM Language and Cultural Services contract represents a natural extension of our core business model and our unwavering commitment to excellence. We are honored to support Military Linguists and proud to stand alongside our Army warfighters. We are excited to take on this challenging opportunity and remain fully committed to delivering high-quality language instruction that strengthens readiness, builds critical capabilities, and supports mission success worldwide."

This award underscores AGI's continued growth in the defense sector and reaffirms its dedication to innovation, quality, and service excellence. AGI looks forward to partnering closely with Army leadership and stakeholders to ensure outstanding program performance over the next five years.
